

Privacy Policy

DIAS agrees to keep confidential, and not to disclose or use personal information which comes into its possession, about the Client or the affairs of the Client, during the course of providing support services under this Service Agreement.

However, DIAS is permitted to disclose information about the Client if required to do so by Law. And DIAS is also permitted disclose or use personal information about the Client when instructed by the Client to do so, or when the Client would reasonably expect DIAS to do so in order to arrange, secure and/or provide support service(s).